

CADDIES CREEK PUBLIC SCHOOL

Term 4 Week 6

19th November 2020

News from the Principal

Dear Parents,

This week saw twenty-one Year Five students give their speeches via Zoom to students from Years Two to Six as to why they should be elected School Leaders for 2021. I was so impressed with each and every child! They were all so very good, and I'm sure it was a tough decision for the students to make. The speeches were recorded and put on the Year Five Google Classrooms (In the Passion Projects Section) so parents can see them actually do it. And the advantages of doing this is now multiple members of the family can watch it – over and over again if they want!

This week also saw our 2021 Kindergarten students descend on the school for orientation. It was done differently this year (of course), with groups of students coming in over the course of three days, and then again next week. There have been multiple videos posted on the Class Dojo site to keep parents informed. I must say it seems to have worked really well! And, at the risk of speaking too soon, they seem to be a very settled bunch! Hardly any tears – even from the parents. It is definitely a big change from pre-school, and sometimes it takes different children a different amount of time to adapt, but they all get there in the end.

There has been a little bit of a hiccup with our Skoolbag app in the last week. Skoolbag did an update of their platform, and if you didn't have your phone set to automatic updates, our school may have been lost on the app. You may need to delete and reinstall the app, making sure to get automatic updates so you don't have to go through this drama every time Skoolbag does an update.

Looking at my diary in the last week, I noticed that last Saturday would have been the Twilight Markets – another sad reminder of some of the great stuff we missed out on in this crazy year. Nevertheless, it reminded me of the wonderful support we have on community events like these from parents and staff alike.

I have some happy but sad news to tell you. Mrs Alison Moyes has picked up a permanent teaching position at Smalls Road Public School in Ryde. I believe she could walk to school from her home if she so desired! We are delighted for her, but also so very sad to see her go. Alison has been a big part of Caddies for many, many years – teaching mainstream students, support class students and doing a brilliant job with the Choral Festival choirs. She will leave a big hole to fill, and I thank her for kindness, her care and her dedication to the students at Caddies Creek. We'll miss you terribly Ali!

I have included another article by Michael Grose in this week's Chronicle – "Caring or Successful? Which would you choose?" He always writes very thought-provoking articles, and he always makes me think and reflect on what I do with my own children.

Later in this Chronicle is this week's showcase of student work – this week it is from Year Three and K/6B.

P&amp;C News

Caddies Creek Public School
P&C Monster Christmas Raffle

This Week's Quote

"The only failure in life is one not learned from."

Assembly Times

Friday assemblies are postponed until further notice.

Each student will have brought home a book of raffle tickets last week. Tickets are $1 each and all funds raised go straight back to supporting the incredible Caddies students and staff. Please return all books and money to the front office in an envelope by Monday 7th December 2020. The raffle prizes will be drawn on Wednesday 9th December 2020.

In the past few years the P&C have held our Monster Raffle as a part of the Twilight Markets, BUT as with many things this year we have had to make some changes and adapt our plans. So, this year we are excited to announce that we will be having a P&C Monster Christmas Raffle proudly sponsored by Emmanuel Fardouly at Raine & Horne Bella Vista / Glenwood. Emmanuel has kindly come on board to help us make our hampers even more amazing. Our three major prizes will be:

- First prize - $250 VISA cash card (proudly provided by Raine & Horne Bella Vista / Glenwood) plus a Christmas Hamper
- Second prize - $150 VISA cash card (proudly provided by Raine & Horne Bella Vista / Glenwood) plus a Christmas Hamper
- Third prize - $85 VISA cash card (proudly provided by Raine & Horne Bella Vista / Glenwood) plus a Christmas Hamper

In addition to this, we then hope to have many more winners of prizes and hampers. We were lucky enough to have received some fabulous vouchers and prizes from local businesses that were to be used to fundraise at the P&C Trivia night that was unfortunately cancelled in June. However, these awesome businesses have asked that we include them in the Monster Christmas Raffle Prize list. Their ongoing support and generosity are greatly appreciated.

Although we already have some great raffle items we would like to make our Raffle Hampers more festive and even bigger and better. In order to achieve this, we would like to request donations from the school community of Christmas items including non-perishable food items (with an expiry date of 2021 or later), decorations and other Christmas items. Thank you in advance to everyone who contributes to these hampers. Donations can be brought to school by the students and placed in the Christmas box inside the school office.

Caring or Successful? Which would you choose for your child?

By Michael Grose

Fortunately, the two aims aren't mutually exclusive, but it's an interesting question as your answer will demonstrate your values.

Are you more likely to encourage kindness or effort in your child? Are you more likely to recognise a child's words of encouragement to a sibling or their clever turn of phrase?

I suspect most parents rank a sense of caring for others as a high priority. Few parents want to raise a mean-spirited, self-centred child with little empathy or care for the welfare of others. But looking out for others doesn't come easily to all children, particularly when families are small and child-centric.

Caring is important for community wellbeing

If the basic task of parents is to socialise children, then a focus on caring for others should be a higher priority than individual success. The wellbeing of our community depends on the first rather than the latter.

Author Anthony D'Angelo wrote, "Without a sense of caring, there can be no sense of community." Families and schools are better places when care takes priority over attainment. They are both toxic when caring for others is not valued or encouraged.

Caring for others sits with community development and individual competency as essential leadership qualities to develop in children and young people.

Our Young Leaders Program, delivered in schools across Australia reflects the importance of caring and kindness. The program specifically identifies emotional intelligence as one of the five building blocks of leadership. The Young Leaders Program encourages schools to promote a sense of service in their young leaders. It shows how leaders should above all else, serve others and enrich the communities that they represent.

Caring for others is also a quality that you can encourage at home. These strategies will help you get the ball rolling.

Put caring into words

Families have their own proprietary language. That is, they develop meaningful words and phrases that reflect their values and activities. In my family, the term 'non-negotiable' has specific meaning, referencing a ritual such as mealtime that everyone is expected to attend. Its 'non-negotiable' nature reinforces our core value of family connectedness. Similarly, regular use of caring language such as encouragement, words of kindness and phrases of appreciation can become an integral part of your family's vernacular.

Making kindness normal

Kindness is caring in action. It's impossible to be kind to another person and be selfish at the same time. A smile, a small gift, an offer of assistance are simple acts of kindness that display caring and connection to others. You can promote kindness in your child through encouragement, modelling and recognition.

Practise concern for others

Three-year-old Grace fell heavily from a table, giving herself a shock. Five-year-old Ruby immediately reached for her sister, hugging her until she calmed down. Ruby's immediate concern was for her sister's wellbeing, which was acknowledged by her grateful parents.

Help at home, without being paid

Children in families that place a high value on caring for others generally perform household chores without the lure of money. They do so because they've been taught that helping is a caring activity. "We help each other because we care for each other" is the unspoken code here. Kids who care for others think "what's in it for we" rather than "what's in it for me". The latter is a self-centred approach to life.

In closing

Caring is a higher-level quality that needs nurturing. It doesn't always occur naturally. Studies have shown that caring is kick started earlier in children who belong to large families presumably because children are put in a position to care for and look out for siblings in quasi parenting roles. Being raised in small families doesn't deny altruism development in kids. It does mean that you may need to work a little harder to awaken caring in your child.

So does my brother

- Darshpreet

They got taken away
And had nothing to say

- Esha

All my happy dreams
are going to fade
Never dreamed of being a dirty maid

- Gabriella

While Aboriginal people were dreaming
They heard the white
government scheming

- Ambross

They got taken away
from their home
And every night
they felt alone

- Xavier

The children
just wanted to play
But the people
took them away

- Hannah

First, they took my brother
Then, they took my mother

- Jaisleen

The kids
did the dishes
The mums
made the wishes

CELEBRATIONS IN K6B

This term, K/6B have been learning about different celebrations. Here are some of our favourites!

Lucius loves birthdays and blowing out the candles on his birthday cake!

Mikayla loves Christmas! She loves decorating her tree with her family and opening presents on Christmas morning!

So many students in our class love Halloween! Rohtaz likes to dress up as a vampire with his sister.

George likes going trick or treating with his brother and their neighbours.

Arjan likes to dress up as a ghost and go trick or treating with his brother.

Savya loves the scary decorations like this scary pumpkin!
